Welcome! Your responses indicate that you are eligible to apply to this relief program.

To save your progress as you work on your application, click the "Save Draft" button located at the end of the application webpage. You can log out and log back in, take a break, or work on your application over several days without losing your data. Submittable will also auto-save your work as you go. Each time an auto-save occurs, a notification will appear on your active application page while you are working.

Mental and Emotional Health Challenges

We understand that completing this application may be overwhelming at this time. If you have friends or family willing to help, our Submittable grant platform allows for “collaborators” – other people besides yourself who can help you fill out your application. They must submit the application in your name, with all your information. They, themselves, cannot be an applicant. Here’s a short video that you can view and share with your “collaborator” about how they can help. Collaborators will not be eligible for funding: They are only helping you—the eligible applicant—complete your application. If nothing else, simply call us, and let us know your situation and how we might be able to help. We cannot promise we can do anything, but we will try the best we can. Please note, the closer we are to the deadline, the more difficult it will be for us to provide in-depth support, so please call us as soon as possible to submit your application early.

SECTION 4: ROLE(S) IN ARTS & CULTURE SECTOR

Whether or not you are an artist or arts worker and proof of this role are also priority factors. The intention of this section is to demonstrate that you have a public-facing role or practice in the arts and culture sector. We are not assessing artistic quality, professional experience or reputation, or career stage.

See FAQs for additional information about who qualifies as an artist or arts worker.

For Artists: Please enter at least one direct URL to your website or another where you and your artistic work are prominently featured. You can also link to media coverage, databases like IMDb, or social media sites such as YouTube, Soundcloud, Instagram, and Facebook, to name a few examples. Again, the URL must link directly to where your work is featured (submitting, for example, instagram.com, will not be accepted). We are requesting this information as proof of having a public-facing artistic, creative, or cultural practice and to demonstrate that you meet the definitions of an artist.

- Optional Support Material: If you are unable to link to an online site or if your public artistic contributions are not easily recognizable in the URL(s) you provided, you may upload a single attachment that demonstrates your public-facing artistic practice, such as a photo of a public performance, news article, or marketing material. This will further demonstrate your engagement with the arts and culture community and benefit to the broader public.

For Workers: Personnel who are employed part- or full-time or contracted to work at arts institutions or individual artists' studios—of all disciplines—in Los Angeles County as of January 7, 2025, are eligible to apply. Arts workers will be given equal weight as artists. Blue-collar personnel, such as security officers, food service staff, janitorial staff, groundskeepers, facilities and logistics, maintenance, retail, visitor services, front of house/ushers, and membership, are strongly encouraged to apply. You must provide the name of your employer, the name of the arts institution if contracted by a separate employer to work there, a phone number for employment verification, and your job title or role.

1. Currently, or as recently as January 7, 2025, which role(s) do you play in LA County's arts and culture sector? (Select one. This is a priority factor.)

- A. Artist Proceed to subsection, "[Artists"]
- B. Arts Worker Proceed to subsection "[Arts Workers"]

Note: We know creatives play multiple roles in the arts and culture sector. Choose whichever role can be most clearly demonstrated by the required documentation. Note that both roles—artists and arts workers—will be equally weighted. In other words, one role does not have any advantage over the other.

LA Arts Community Fire Relief Fund

(effective January 20, 2025)

A – ARTISTS

The Fund uses a broad definition of “Artist,” and no specific credentials are required. Eligible artists include those who have received training in an artistic discipline, such as those offered in art schools and fine arts degree programs; apprenticeship in traditional arts; as well as those who have craft, folk, traditional, or contemporary creative practices that perpetuate or express cultural identities. In addition, applicants must have a public-benefiting practice, which should be evidenced by the application’s required documentation (i.e., a URL or other ephemera that prominently features the applicant’s artistic, cultural, or creative practice).

We welcome an expansive set of craft, visual, literary, and performing arts practices, as well as traditional and cultural practices, including, but not limited to, book arts, ceramics, conceptual art, dance, design, DJ-ing, fiber and textile work, fiction/non-fiction writing, film/video, folk and traditional arts, glasswork, hip hop, media arts and digital/XR media, multimedia and multi-disciplinary practices, metalwork, mural making, music, musical theatre, opera, painting, performance art, photography, paper and printmaking, poetry, public art, quilting, regalia making, sculpture, spoken word, social/community-engaged practices, storytelling, theatre, and woodworking. Regarding traditional and cultural practices, if you are a bearer of a traditional form of expression or one that holds meaning for your cultural community, you are eligible to apply. Such practices may include, but are not limited to, artists working with hair, food, in nature, and tattoo arts.

We provide examples of our definition of “artist” to demonstrate a broad reach, but keep in mind that this list is not comprehensive. In other words, we know we may have left out disciplines, mediums, or practices. We also acknowledge excluding those whose professions may be creative but do not conventionally fall into the “arts and culture” category. This consideration was made to ensure we can serve the intended population as much as possible.

If you have questions about eligibility, contact CCI at relief@cciarts.org or by phone at 415.288.0530 and 213.687.8577.
